SMART BUILDINGS – ARE YOU READY FOR THE NEXT FRONTIER?

The adoption of smart facilities management (FM) solutions, from systems integration and digitalisation to the use of automation to control, monitor and manage building assets and services is upending traditional building management approaches.

These solutions, which are deployed throughout a building's lifespan, are aimed at mitigating challenges brought about by ageing property, rising operation and energy costs, manpower constraints and higher user expectations.

Join our experts at IBEW 2019 as they share insights into how you can also leverage smart technologies to optimise your building operations and maintenance, bringing about greater efficiency and savings.

TRACK 2.3 - SMART FACILITIES MANAGEMENT (FM) | 4 Sept 2019

FROM ZERO TO ONE: LEAPFROG FACILITIES MANAGEMENT WITH APPLIED INTELLIGENCE

Modern Workplaces are powered by a multitude of building systems and applications. Managing these systems and applications to ensure operational efficiency while retaining a seamless office experience is a priority for the various stakeholders involved in operating and maintaining the workplaces. Our experts from CERTIS CISCO will show you how Applied Intelligence can help increase productivity, enhance user experience, and improve energy and building efficiency while maintaining low operation cost.

SMARTER FM AND THE HUMAN EXPERIENCE

Facilities managers are adopting new ways of looking at buildings and their features, and how new technologies could be applied to enhance user experience. Join JLL as they share their expertise and offer useful tips on making building maintenance smarter.

TRACK 5.1 - SMART ESTATES | 6 Sept 2019

TRANSFORMING SPACES WITH IOT, AI & CLOUD

Microsoft is investing $5 billion IoT over the next four years, part of which will be dedicated to enabling a complete range of experiences in Smart Buildings and Smart Cities. The ability to gather data from a broad variety of sensors and devices will enable building owners and facility managers to better understand and optimize indoor spaces, and alter them to best serve tenants' needs.

Join Microsoft as they share their HQ redesign experience and the solutions provided by their partners that allow them to break new grounds in smart campuses around the world.
