Guidelines for Integrity Management System in the Consulting Industry 1st Edition (2019) Part III

This comprehensive toolkit sets out a road map on how consulting engineering firms could apply integrity management in their work and provides the details on how to develop a FIDIC integrity management system (FIMS) and use it in their day-to-day consulting practice. The guide shows how consulting companies that already have a functioning FIMS may move towards the adoption and eventual certification of an integrity management system incorporating an anti-bribery framework under an ISO 37001 standard.
