

VIRTUAL EXHIBITION

BuildTech Asia

Digital Series

International Building & Construction Technology Expo

14 -15 October 2020 | 10am to 6pm | Singapore Time

BuildTech Asia holds its first-ever virtual exhibition in October! The event gathers companies and professionals in the build environment sector to discuss trends, insights and developments to accelerate the adoption of industry 4.0 that sees the workforce using the latest smart technologies.

The Asian Development Bank has stated that growth in Asia is expected to rebound next year following a significant drop in 2020 due to the Coronavirus (COVID-19). According to the latest outlook, regional economic growth in developing Asia will decline sharply this year amid the COVID-19 outbreak. The report forecasts growth is expected to rebound to more than six per cent in 2021.

With over 100 international and regional products and solutions on exhibit across the building life-cycle in areas such as:

- DfMA through advanced and productive technologies like prefabrication and robotics to save on cost, time and manpower
- IDD is about leveraging advanced information and Communications Technology, smart solutions, and BIM to enable digital simulation and planning to enhance stakeholders integration, and collaboration across the building life-cycle
- Smart facilities management technologies and innovative solutions to accelerate the digital transformation in facilities management
