

If you are not able to see this email, click here.

Get your business WSH-ready for the dynamic and evolving future of work

2 more weeks to Conference. Register now!

The Singapore WSH Conference 2020 will close with a tripartite panel discussion on the future of work. While the future of work offers unparalleled work opportunities, there will be significant WSH challenges ahead. To better manage the transition, businesses will have to adjust rapidly to the new normal and put in place sound WSH policies, while ensuring that safety and health are uncompromised. The Conference will also touch on the importance of companies and workers in preparing themselves for constant changes in the future of work while inculcating a strong culture of prevention in the workplace.

Tripartite Panel Discussion

COVID-19 has taught us work will never be the same. But are we WSH ready and competent to become adaptable and stronger in times of crisis and change?

COVID-19, together with globalisation, technological progress and demographic changes, is profoundly affecting how businesses function and employees work, resetting expectations of how work fits into life.

At the tripartite panel discussion, some of the topics covered include:

- Ways to safeguard our employees as we reimagine and redefine work while “living” with COVID-19.
- How things can be done differently in creating safe, healthy and productive employees in these new ways of working.

- The need to maintain Singapore's competitive edge as we strengthen our workforce's mental resilience and well-being.
- Impact on our labour relations and manpower policies for workplaces of the future.

View the synopses of all presentations for the full 2-day Conference programme here.

Plenary 4 Panellists for the Tripartite Panel Discussion

Mr Zaqy Mohamad

Senior Minister of State,
Ministry of Manpower
and Ministry of Defence

Mr John Ng

Chairman,
Workplace Safety and Health Council

Mr Douglas Foo

Vice President,
Singapore National
Employers Federation

Mr Melvin Yong

Assistant Secretary-General,
National Trades Union
Congress

Ms Michelle Baxter

Chief Executive Officer,
Safe Work Australia

Ms Kala Anandarajah

Head, Competition & Antitrust
and Trade, and Lead Partner,
Corporate Governance,
Rajah & Tann Singapore LLP
(Moderator)

Closing Address

In his closing remarks, Senior Minister of State for Manpower Mr Zaqy Mohamad will share about the key recommendations made at the 7th Meeting of the International Advisory Panel 2020 for Workplace Safety and Health, specifically on:

- How workplaces can rejuvenate business attention to WSH post COVID-19;
- WSH strategies and opportunities to advance the prevention culture and towards improving WSH and guard against public health risks; and
- Importance of mental health in WSH, especially in the post COVID-19 world.

View the full line-up of over 30 speakers on the Conference website here.

Special Conference Rates

For members of NTUC and SNEF

As members of NTUC and SNEF, you will be entitled to greater savings when you input the unique PROMO CODE during registration. For enquiries, please email secretariat@singaporewshconference.sg

For Conference Partners

If your association or organisation is one of our 30 Conference Partners, you will also enjoy savings at a special price of $133 per participant when you sign up with the PROMO CODE issued by our Conference Partners.

General Pricing

Individual
Conference Pass

S$220
per participant

Group
Conference Pass
(3 participants or more)

S$133
per participant

✚ Earn accreditation points
(upon attendance of 2 days of the Conference)

10 SDUs

for the WSH Continuing Professional Development (CPD) Programme

Individual NTUC members can apply for the Union Training Assistance Programme (UTAP) when signing up for the Conference. Check out the UTAP funding here.

Unionised companies can apply for the NETF Collaborative Fund (NCF) through their respective union when signing up for the Conference.

Visit singaporewshconference.sg to register today!

For enquiries, email secretariat@singaporewshconference.sg

Follow us on

Organisers:

unsubscribe from this list.