A TIME TO RECOVER, REBOUND & RE-IMAGINE

2020 was an exceptionally challenging year for all of us. With COVID-19 impacting economies worldwide, it was only with concerted effort and dedication that we were able to overcome the challenge and adapt to a new way of working and living.

The International Built Environment Week (IBEW) plays a pivotal role in supporting the built environment sector as it recovers and evolves to meet new challenges. IBEW 2021, themed “Re-imagining the Future”, will emphasize on what’s next for the built environment sector and highlight the trends and opportunities that will facilitate business transformation in the post-pandemic world.

The event will feature a specially curated conference and tradeshow showcasing the latest innovations in sustainability, built environment technologies, smart facilities management and digitalisation. It will also offer valuable business insights and exciting networking opportunities to help the sector emerge stronger, more sustainable and resilient.
