

Greening Industrial Buildings

Against the backdrop of the decarbonisation megatrend, green buildings are increasingly regarded as an effective way to move the needle on built environment sustainability. Driven by national initiatives such as the Singapore Green Plan 2030 and the Singapore Green Building Masterplan, there is a strong push for enterprises to reduce their carbon emissions and green business operations.

Industrial buildings also count towards the national target of having 80 per cent of the built environment greened by 2030. Greening industrial buildings can not only improve energy efficiency but also help create a better working environment for employees, reducing stress levels and improving their physical and mental wellbeing.

In this webinar, hear from three industry experts as we discuss the greening of industrial buildings.
