Greetings, Safety Advocates!

World of Safety and Health Asia presents another fascinating edition of the magazine to all safety professionals worldwide!

In our latest edition, WSHAsia is introducing an improved design for a satisfying user experience of the eMagazine! Now, it will take you lesser time to flip through the pages and ensure that you get all the information you need to keep yourself up to date with the OSH industry. That's right, with just a snap of your fingertips you can have it all in your hands!

In our March 2023 issue, we cover the topic of Women in Safety. This issue addresses influential women who advocate for safety in their workplace and the great extent they are willing to go through in offering their extensive experience in the OSH industry. Discover what's new in the world of first aid and emergency response, as well as stay up to date on issues such as Sustainability, Digital Safety, Millennials as OSH Leaders and other noteworthy topics.

In conjunction with International Women's Day in March, WSHAsia had a chat with three lovely women from the OSH industry across Asia! This podcast episode features a familiar face from last year's podcast, Michelle Lam, the Head of Occupational Safety and Health, Asia Pacific Africa Region with ThyssenKrupp based in Singapore, Bonnie Yau, the Executive Director of Occupational Safety and Health Council in Hong Kong SAR and Alanna Ball, the Founder of Women in Safety based in Australia. Learn more about their experience and challenges faced by being a woman in the male-dominated OSH industry in their regions.

Don't miss out on another amazing edition! Stay safe at all times.
