JTC-SGBC Seminar 2024

Pathways to Super Low Energy Buildings

Friday, 26 April 2024 | In-Person Event

The built environment is undergoing a decarbonisation transformation, and Super Low Energy Buildings (SLEBs) are leading the way. In the development of design approaches and management of building operations today, both energy efficiency and sustainability are paramount, and understanding and implementing SLEB strategies is a vital step towards attaining decarbonisation goals.

Explore pathways to Super Low Energy Buildings at this year's JTC-SGBC Seminar on 26 April 2024. As an annual signature event co-organised with JTC, the Seminar will delve deep into the topic and share innovative approaches and case studies of exemplary buildings. Join us as we
