The objective of the 2024 FIDIC Asia Pacific Conference, themed “Governance for Climate Shock,” is to assemble government officials, business leaders, and stakeholders to delve into opportunities, challenges, and future directions related to the implementation of governance for climate shock. The conference will feature focused sessions offering diverse perspectives on climate shock.

FIDIC Asia Pacific 2024 in Nepal not only aims to applaud the commendable efforts of nations in formulating policies related to climate change, resilient infrastructure, and net-zero goals but also seeks to facilitate discussions on governance strategies for managing climate shocks. As these challenges rapidly evolve alongside human innovation, we voice the need to sensitize policymakers and governance authorities to the broader impact on society and nations.

The Society of Consulting Architectural and Engineering Firms (SCAEF) Nepal is uniting with leaders from over twenty nations in the Himalayan foothills. Together, we take on the challenge of advocating for the integration of the best sustainability matrix into national policymaking for addressing climate shocks.

SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

The conference will create opportunities for the businesses to have better understand to reduce risk and prepare them for a future market in showcasing their products to combat climate change. We are extremely delighted to be hosting this world changing event. We thank all our supporters in making event a grand success.
