How is technology redefining your professional practice?

As AI adoption accelerates and the demand for new capabilities grows, the built environment is undergoing a fundamental transformation. In this opening plenary, leading industry and institutional leaders from around the world will examine how emerging technologies are reshaping the workforce, accelerating sustainability outcomes and redefining professional practice, both in Singapore and other markets. The discussion will explore what organisations and professionals must do today to build new competencies while staying relevant.

What you'll walk away with:

- ✔ Future-proof your role with AI
- ✔ Build a workforce ready to adopt and scale AI
- ✔ Lead with people to drive real transformation
