SIEW
SINGAPORE-INTERNATIONAL ENERGY WEEK

Don't miss your chance to immerse yourself in the conversations defining the future of the regional energy mix. Join us on 27 October for a high-level dialogue co-hosted with the International Renewable Energy Agency (IRENA).

The Singapore-IRENA High-Level Forum will convene global energy leaders to explore strategic pathways for secure, resilient, and flexible energy systems. As part of the SIEW Summit Day 2, this forum offers a dedicated platform for forward-looking discussions on strengthening regional interconnectivity, advancing innovation in emerging technologies, and mobilising the capital required for renewable energy projects in Southeast Asia and beyond.

Enabling Investment for the Energy Transition

Mobilising capital for renewable energy requires robust policies and clear investment signals. This session will explore how policies, regulatory frameworks, and international partnerships can mobilise both public and private investment. Panellists will also share insights on how international cooperation can help close the financing gap.

From Projects to Capital — Unlocking Finance for Renewable Energy Projects

To stay on track towards the tripling renewables goal by 2030, IRENA estimates that more than 1,000 GW of renewable capacity will need to be added globally. Against this backdrop, this session will bring together project developers, investors, and financing institutions to explore what it takes to move renewable energy projects from concept to financial close. Panellists will discuss the key ingredients for bankability, including project preparation, risk mitigation, and financing structures that can improve investor confidence.

Connecting the Systems: Financing the Grids and Infrastructure and Greening Industries That Power Tomorrow

Scaling renewable energy demands equal focus on grid infrastructure, storage, and cross border connectivity. Additionally, green manufacturing through renewables-powered industrial processes and value chain localisation of Renewable Energy components will be key towards enhancing economic competitiveness. This session explores how to mobilise finance for transmission networks, interconnections, enabling low carbon infrastructure and green industrialisation. The panel will also discuss how the region can build the connected energy systems as well as enhance the greening of industries needed to power tomorrow's economies.
