TAKING STOCK

As the year draws to a close, it is a timely opportunity to take stock of how ready your organisation is for the year ahead.

You may already be setting new business priorities, growth targets and plans for the coming year. But delivering them will depend on whether your organisation has the right people, capabilities and leadership strength in place.

Challenges such as difficulty retaining strong performers, over-reliance on a few key individuals or a limited pipeline of future leaders may not always be immediately visible. Left unaddressed, they can slow execution and increase business risk.

The Human Capital Diagnostic Tool (HCDT) provides a structured check-in on your organisation's workforce strengths and potential gaps. The insights can help you identify what needs attention now, so you can focus your time and resources on the areas that will make the greatest difference in the year ahead.

Join the virtual HCDT Workshop to understand where your organisation stands and identify practical steps to strengthen its ability to deliver next year's business plans.

WORKSHOP OUTCOMES

You will learn how to

01 Identify workforce gaps that may affect next year's priorities

02 Focus resources on the areas that matter most

03 Strengthen your organisation's ability to execute its plans

04 Enter the new year with clearer workforce priorities
